Forecast for Monday 23 May 2022

Weather: Mist and low cloud will be quite widespread overnight and for the start of Monday with some drizzle or light rain in places, eastern ranges may be clearer to start the day. The day will brighten up at times but quite a lot of cloud for most areas, perhaps a few sunny intervals in the east. There is a risk of an afternoon or evening shower. A few clearer spells by evening with some late sunshine likely.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 40% improving to 80% in the morning, a lot of low cloud and mist for the early morning affecting the summits.

Low cloud and visibility: Scattered or broken low cloud above 600m in the early morning will slowly thin and become more patchy in the morning. Visibility will be moderate and quite hazy throughout the day. Further low cloud is likely in the evening especially around any showers that develop.
